Piedmont Fiberglass Holds Open House

A large crowd attended Piedmont Fiberglass' open house ceremony at their new Taylorsville facility on Friday, December 5th. The company recently purchased and renovated the former Kincaid Furniture facility located at 33 Lewittes Road. The company currently employees approximately 50 people and will add at least 25 additional jobs over the next two years.

Speakers at the open house ceremony included the President of Piedmont Fiberglass Douglas Caudle, Angela Caudle of Piedmont Fiberglass, US House Representative Virginia Fox, NC House Representative Ray Warren, Alexander County Commissioner Darrell Robertson, Economic Development Corporation Director David Icenhour, and Terry Davis of Piedmont

Fiberglass. "This is a great example of Alexander County and the State of North Carolina working together to revitalize this facility and bring much needed jobs to the county" said Commissioner Robertson. The ceremony included a history of Piedmont Fiberglass, a ceremony honoring Phares and Carrie Caudle who began the company in 1972, and tours of the facility.

As one of the nation's premiere manufacturers of fiberglass products, Piedmont Fiberglass makes products such as church steeples, baptismal pools, waterslides, cupolas, truck platforms, equipment of the cable industry, and various parts for the boating industry. Piedmont Fiberglass relocated to Alexander County from Mooresville, NC and has clients in all 50 States and in 6 countries.
